MHS student's day begins with Nothing seems more important than a few extra minutes sleep in the morning.

The ugly alarm rings too early for most students after a late night of work . . . or fun.

"Tall up!" But do you think corn flakes can help Steve Anton face the day?

preparations to meet the public

The alarm rings three hours too soon... a closet full of dirty clothes... a full glass of orange juice in one gulp... rushing out of the house with one less hoop... forgetting lunch money on the kitchen table... "I can't do a thing with my hair!"... one last look in the mirror... and a mad dash for school!

Decisions, decisions! Nothing looks good except going back to bed.

It takes a steady hand to apply eye shadow at 6:30 in the morning. Just ask Nancy Shalla.

And the boys say only the girls primp!

Quietness is overcome as the school

After a night's rest, even the school looks ready for a new day.

Playing tag with the school bus . . . a nice smooth bus ride standing up . . . the empty hall before the mad rush . . . driving to school . . . saying the Pledge of Allegiance everyday . . . going to the attendance office at 7:55 . . . the office assistants picking up the attendance cards . . . then class begins.

Some lucky people drive to school, and passengers find a few moments for a little more sleep.

A school bus ride isn't the most auspicious way to start a day, but perhaps it's better than walking.

awakens to a new day's activities.

First on the agenda each day is the National Anthem and Pledge of Allegiance to the flag.

Collecting absence cards is one of Pam Ruff's duties as office assistant.

Hours of sleep seem far behind as students begin another day with $\frac{\sin}{\sec} = \cos$.

Government classes observed racial equality in action as they followed Gary's mayoral race in Mr. Talmage's government classes.

A-V classes bring sight and sound

With a look of understanding, Ken Marlowe learns from Mr. Woolridge the proper use of the overhead projector.

The art of parallel parking . . . stop, look, and turn . . . "drive defensively" . . . remembering to get a driver's education permit . . . changing a flat tire in school clothes . . . are the main objectives of the driver education classes.

A teacher demonstrating a math problem on the overhead projector . . . learning through movies . . . taping a speech or an oral book report . . . typing to music . . . these conveniences are brought to use by the audio visual department.

The fundamentals of tape recording will be used often by Tom Smith, Dean Coveris and Joe Galati as they assist teachers in using A-V equipment.

Tips on maneuvering a car out of a parking space are given by Mr. Englehart.

The accent is on exercise

1-2-3-4-counts the calisthenics leader as the boys practice burpees.

The rush to the locker room to get ready on time . . . rigorous calisthenics . . . sweaty gym clothes . . . the basic principles of modern dance . . . cold showers . . . football, basketball and baseball . . . study guides filled with game rules . . . a week at the MerriBowl . . . weekend washdays . . . leg lifts . . . trampoline holidays . . . humid locker rooms . . . five laps around the football field . . . frizzy hair . . . remind MHS students of their high school physical education classes.

Leg lifis don't look hard to do, but try them!

Nothing is as quiet as an empty locker room—but—wait until the girls come in for that five-minute change.

Thinking of the many skills she'll use to transform a length of yellow cloth to a couturier designed coat, Karen Hofmann begins by cutting out each piece.

After drawing a houseplan, Val Kellenberger and Miss Carlson evaluate the design.

The smell of freshly-baked cookies . . . the steady pace of a sewing machine . . . the snip of scissors cutting out pictures of furniture . . . the throb of a patient's pulse . . . these are the sensations of today that are only a practice for tomorrow.

By actual experience in foods class, Cheryl Wardell and Wendy Matykiewicz prepare for the time when they'll cook about a thousand meals a year.

learn skills with practice

As he earnestly works on his project for wood shop, Ken Urban discovers experience is the best teacher.

The reproduction of intricate designs . . . developing manual skills . . . the smell of gasoline and oil . . . making useful objects in wood shop . . . sparks flying . . . the fundamentals of machine care . . . pounding metal . . . training to be mechanics . . . the shop department offers a wide variety of useful subjects to interested boys.

Wearing protective goggles, Allan Cunningham operates the metal shop grinding machine.

Deep concentration possesses Alex Sunyog as he draws plans for the exterior elevation of a home.

The thrill of solving an equation . . . constructing triangles . . . the square root of two . . . Exploding chemicals . . . test tubes, graduated cylinders, pipettes . . . the odor of formaldehyde . . . pressure times volume—constance . . . slimy creatures . . . the difference between a chemical and physical change as shown through microscopes . . . MHS students are offered a variety of subjects in the field of science.

The other-worldly appearance of George Malis and Dewey Klahn add to the aura of scientific quest.

Guidance is for today and tomorrow

Thoughtfully, Mr. Kuhnes considers a proper course for a bewildered student.

Checking this year's program, Pat Shudick decides on majors and minors.

Planning schedules . . . choosing the right college . . . a large supply of vocational pamphlets . . . conducting the PSAT and SAT . . . advice in applying for financial aid . . . discussing the future . . . these are a few of the services which the guidance department offers to MHS students.

Helping plan next year's schedule is a major counseling job. Mrs. Coon helps juniors chart their course.

Art frees the individual's spirit

Mrs. Stewardt adds the finishing touches to Marsha Waffler's Christmas.

Sketching faces and scenes . . . decorating the school for Christmas . . . looking forward to the senior field trip . . . the construction of the giant Pirate head . . . modeling clay . . . designing collages . . . interpreting abstract paintings . . . creating mosaics . . . are only a few of the projects which help develop the talents of artistic students.

Molding a papier-mache doll Connie Tuminello displays her art talents

There's more to lunch hour

On glazed, spiced ham days, the candy machine draws more people than the lunchline.

The clatter of trays . . . the "brownie man" . . . a chance to do that forgotten homework . . . the mob at the candy machine . . . empty Coke bottles . . . THE FOOD . . . fifty-five minutes short . . . what would MHS students do without lunch hour!

Mass chaos reigns during lunch hour as students cut in and out of line.

than soup and sandwiches

Many students find lunch hour the only time to do research work in the library.

Chess enthusiasts tune-out the rest of the world to concentrate on their game.

Home economists would certainly approve this group's holiday centerpiece.

After trying to find just the right book, Dave Rolan will spend the rest of his lunch hours putting books away.

Boys station themselves in the west balcony for their favorite sport: girl watching!

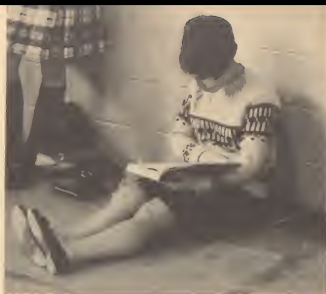

Keeping an eye on activities in the gym is Coach Armontrout.

Dodging basketballs makes lunch hour dancing a bit difficult for the girls.

"The boys watch the girls while the girls watch the boys who watch the girls go by" . . . guys kicking the juke box to make the records play longer . . . seniors playing jump rope . . . girls demonstrating the latest dances . . . students cramming for afternoon tests . . . THANK GOODNESS FOR LUNCH HOUR!

The gym balcony can even be used for studying. Could Toni Sedita be cramming for an "Aggie-test?"

Make-up work is one of the many disadvantages of being absent.

Time and talent mean success in speech

Using one of many swimming motions Alice McCorkle begins her demonstration speech.

A free-style stroke is also explained by Alice.

The agony of waiting for your number . . . "It's all in the cards" . . . the horror of forgetting your speech . . . dragging fifty pounds of visual aids on the school bus . . . the sorrow of being two minutes short . . . being able to get up in front of your classmates without being nervous . . . reading interps from plays . . . the long nights at the library preparing debate cards . . . the thrill of placing at contest . . . the feeling of achievement after completing a good speech . . . public speaking plays an important role in the curriculum of a well-rounded student.

In conclusion, Alice gestures, reviewing several swimming motions.

The weekly job of stenciling for the MIRROR is done by Mary Kay Vance and Diane Lietzan.

There will always be a deadline

Meeting deadlines . . . selling subscriptions . . . planning lay-outs . . . dummieing stories to be stenciled . . . the strains of having a weekly newspaper . . . thinking of a suitable headline . . . the satisfaction of seeing ones work in print . . . experimenting with cub reporters . . . writing effective feature stories . . . the MERRILLVUE and MIRROR staffs work industriously to provide the school with top-notch publications.

Criticizing the final production of the paper is one of the many tasks required of Barb Wilson, Editor-in Chief and Ed Lansdown, Managing Editor.

The newspaper staff adds the finishing touches to the paper by stapling.

Busy school week ends with pep session

Through a vanguard of Pepieens, co-captains Don McKeny and Mickey Gaboyan lead the '67 fighting Pirates to their place of honor at the Homecoming pep session.

The spirit of determination of its namesake team is shown in the expression on this Pirate face. The feet belong to Garee Earp.

Up for two with his famous baseline jump-shot is Guard Ray Idzior.

With a grimace of determination, Pirate Randy Grdinich spikes the ball.

A round leather ball by Spalding . . . the smell of mothballs on unpacked warm-up jackets . . . holding the rim of the basket . . . the first big conference game . . . practice-shooting, dribbling, free-throws, guarding, passing, set-ups, rebounds . . . tournies . . . sectionals . . . uniform cheering pep blocks . . . Pirate netmen keep up their practicing to show their skill at games.

Springing high, center Dan Simc pours in two more points against Highland.

rebounding, passing and defense.

Her usual happy self, cheerleader Gwen Cieszkiewicz inspires the fans.

Driving hard toward the basket, Mick Gaboyan works for an opening.

In a flurry of action, with a Crown Point player on the floor, Mick Gaboyan finally scores.

Those Fightin'

Aided by his quick reflexes, Dale Moore manages a shot.

"Who made a basket—Pirates made a basket!" cheers Carol Brugos.

Stillness during a tie-breaking free throw . . . winning in an overtime . . . losing an overtime . . . making the winning basket in the last two seconds . . . fouling out . . . a coach shouting signals from the side court . . . sitting on the bench . . . an away game with a big crowd on the home side . . . and just being a member of the team makes for a very spirited MHS Basketball team.

Going high in the air, reserve Bob Goolsby scores.

Fightin' Pirates

Able to shoot with either hand, Dave Homokey tries a lefty this time.

Reserve guard Dave Reberg arches a jump shot in.

Shooting his patterned jumpshot, Rich Abel pumps in two more.

"What are the Pirates gonna do tonight," chants Nancy Dunklau.

Dan Simic and Cheryl Keaveney reign over the second annual Basketball Homecoming.

Senior cheerleader Debby Mayes leads Pirate fans in yells before half-time festivities begin.

The finale of Spirit Week . . . a banquet of white roses for Queen Cheryl Keaveney . . . leading by ten points at the half . . . the pep block singing "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" . . . a ball signed by the rest of the team for Mr. Basketball, Dan Simic . . . losing in an overtime, 75-67 . . . the cheerleaders screaming "Go, go, go" . . . Homecoming proved that basketball is a favorite sport at MHS.

The moment of announcing Mr. Basketball and Basketball Sweetheart are happy moments for Danny Simic and Cheryl Keaveney.

Tears of joy fill Cheryl's eyes as she is crowned the 1968 Basketball Sweetheart by last year's Sweetheart, Linda Santos.

Varsity cheerleader, Debbie Petrain starts up the spirit again after half-time.

A Fine ARts Review is . . .

The girl's physical education department display their talents in a dance done to "The High and the Mighty."

January 24 and 25 . . . the Vocalteens singing their first place contest numbers . . . a delightful humorous interpretation . . . "Sorry Wrong Number" . . . talented band members performing instrumental ensembles . . . a twenty-minute intermission to enjoy the student art exhibit in the cafeteria . . . free refreshments . . . the dramatic interpretation of "Anastasia" . . . a dance routine by the Girl's Physical Education Department . . . the hilarious comedy, "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" . . . the Fine Arts Review presented by the Merrillville Forensic League and Thespian Society was a night of enjoyable entertainment.

Doing their own dramatic interpretation of "Anastasia" are Marsha Anhold and Cheryl Bubltz.

Representing the band are Nancy Thompson, Vicki Mandernack, Joyce Smith and Joy Fraikin in an instrumental ensemble.

On the serious side is Joyce Smith's poetic interpretation of "Patterns".

"The Imaginary Invalid" offers Mark Andrus a great chance to show his talents in humorous interpretation.

The shocking one-act, "Sorry Wrong Number," is a spine chiller as Tony Patellis brutally stabs Cheryl Bublitz.

Final curtain closes for seniors

"Hello, Sir . . ." intones Grandpa in giving thanks for the family's evening meal of cornflakes and watermelon.

Evidently muscles used in Boris Kolenkov's ballet can be used for the more he-man sport of wrestling. Just ask Mr. Kirby!

Last minute details are always a problem to be discussed by stage manager, Jack Wesley; business manager, Jamie Lisman; student director, Sue Cekarmis; and rehearsal assistant, Mary Kay Vance.

April 4, 5, 6, . . . Joseph Morrow, director . . . blocking meant pencils, erasers and short tempers . . . Mr. Morrow suggests John and Marla practice in the hall . . . Costume fittings . . . Coach Morrow threatens to establish hours . . . reading Hamlet between lines . . . "Love Dreams" . . . word games . . . cornflakes and watermelon . . . last play by '68 was "You Can't Take It With You."

Paul, better known to Alice as Dad, can be very consoling when he's not experimenting with fireworks along with Mr. DePinna.

The family is always attentive when Grandpa, one of the more sensible members of the Sycamore family, is speaking either about his pet snakes or a future commencement exercise that he attends.

Actress Gay Wellington, in her usual state of intoxication poses a problem for the G-men during the raid.

"Golden Toes Essie" gets inspired as husband Ed plays his very own version of Beethoven's classic "Lady of Spain," while instructor Boris Kolenkov observes.

After school Steve Brownfield finds time to make a Friday night date.

Dates Dot Social Calendar

Bowery Ball provides adequate time for socializing.

At the football homecoming dance the Jello house attracted many couples.

*Teaching your date
to do the "strand"
at a sock-hop . . . a corsage and a boutonniere for the Homecoming dance
. . . a Roaring Twenties atmosphere for the Bowery Ball . . . just being together makes
MHS guys and dolls
happy.*

Carefree times are enjoyed by Lezlie Pierce and Denny Gay at one of the Sock-hop.

Keeping in step, Michelle Mandich and John Jaroscak enjoy each other's company.

Couples double the fun

Couples enjoy the last dance, as an enchanting night at the Bowery Ball comes to an end.

Stage romancing holds that "certain something" for Ray Forsythe and Sue Collins.

New dances pose no problem for Ron Thursby and Jackie Regal.

*A post-dance dinner at a favorite eating spot . . . skipping a Friday night game to go to the drive-in . . .
wearing stiff new shoes to a dance
. . . getting lipstick on that pale pink dress two minutes before your date arrives . . . coming in an hour late
. . . What are you doing Saturday night?*

Having a steady is especially fun at a sockhop, discovers Debbie Mayes and Dave Franz.

*John,
and you and your family.
I hope you are all well.*

Chulac

A sophomore facing the long unfamiliar halls of a high school . . . a cheerleader jumping ten feet off the ground after a touchdown . . . a teacher signing in . . . a junior transforming the gym into an elegant ballroom for the prom . . . "the gang" meeting at McDonald's for an after game snack . . . a queen being crowned while tears stream down her face . . . a class president accepting the spirit stick . . . a student dashing off to school ten minutes late . . . a star football player earning his letter . . . a senior grasping twelve years of hard work in his diploma . . . IT'S ALL ABOUT US!

Valedictorian

Paula Ferkull

As the class of 1968, our past is now behind us. It is evident that we have achieved much in these past four years. Yet, just as when we were freshmen awaiting this our senior year, we now have but to look to the future.

The past cannot be changed. It can, however, be remembered with either a sigh of relief or a glow of fond remembrance. This recollection is all that we can hope to achieve in regard to the past. Now we must each set out on separate paths to find the place in life which holds what we are seeking.

We will each be on our own awaiting the forever approaching future. The future can be viewed in two ways—with fear or anxiety. It is only natural that each of us has a slight fear of what awaits us in life; yet, this fear should not overpower our anxiety and eagerness for the future.

Longfellow seems to have expressed the ideal outlook about the future. He said: "Look not mournfully to the past—it comes not back again; wisely improve the present—it is thine; go forth to meet the shadowy future without fear and with a manly heart." So it should be with each of us. We should meet each day with the hope of improving ourselves and our surroundings. In this way we will find a meaningful place in the world.

1968 --the year all of us have been looking forward to: the year of the open door. High school is finally gone. We're now ready to step through that open door into the adult world. It's been a lot of fun, (remember those Saturday-night TP parties?), but now after reaching this first goal we're setting our sights a little higher. Many of us will be going on to college and other higher education. Some of us will be taking jobs. Still others will be starting families. But no matter what we do, we all follow the same path; we all step into society. We can look back on our four years to see how well we've prepared ourselves, but we should be looking ahead. We have the world given to us, to do with as we please. We're the ones who future generations will look back up on and say, "With wandering steps and slow through Eden they took their solitary way," for we'll have left them a better world than we found it.

In Memory

The Class of 1968 is saddened by the death of three classmates, Ken Williams, Greg Tubich and Mickey Gaboyan. We wish to dedicate this poem to them.

Remember Christina Rossetti

Remember me when I am gone away,
Gone far away into the silent land;
When you can no more hold me by the hand,
Nor I half turn to go, yet turning stay.
Remember me when no more, day by day,
You tell me of our future that you planned;
Only remember me; you understand
It will be late to counsel then or pray.
Yet if you should forget me for a while
And afterward remember, do not grieve;
For if the darkness and corruption leave
A vestige of the thoughts that once I had,
Better by far you should forget and smile
Than that you should remember and be sad.

Jan,
 Is one of the sweetest and most sincere persons I've ever met
 I'm glad I got to know
 you. Good luck with everything you do
 don't worry too much.
 Good.

Thanks for the memories

As I think about my senior year I realize how much this yearbook has been a part of my life. Being chosen as editor of the yearbook was a great thrill.

One of the honors given with this job was a two-week workshop at Indiana University during the summer. Plans were made in July for the entire book by Tina Mussie, copy editor, and me. I'd like to thank Mr. Murphy, American Yearbook advisor, for helping the staff complete these plans in September.

Scotty, photographer from Walinger Studios, went from class to dances to capture just the right poses. Without the patience and cooperation of the faculty these pictures could not have been taken. I'd like to commend Walinger's for their fine photography on all of the Senior portraits, and the cover. As our work progressed many people contributed and deserve thanks. This is our yearbook and it wouldn't have been possible without the help from all of them, including you, the subscriber. Mrs. Lewis did an excellent job on the title page and division page. These drawings seemed to make our yearbook that much different. The addition of pages, color on the cover and new paper would not have been possible without the approval of Mr. Bovard. I personally would like to thank him for helping us with the many problems that could have never been solved without him.

Most of all, I would like to extend a special thanks to my staff and to Miss Carlson. I couldn't have done it without their great help, patience and cooperation. Miss Carlson and the staff deserve a lot of credit for giving up lunch hours, staying after school till 10:00 p.m., trying to answer ten questions at the same time, checking over and correcting page after page and neglecting homework. In spite of all the frustrations and disappointments it was an adventure and an experience that will never be forgotten. I hope that you enjoy this yearbook as much as we've enjoyed putting it together. I hope that we have accomplished telling the story of students at Merrillville High School in 1967-68.
